OUR CAPITAL LETTER.

The Shuswap and Okanagon, and Cariboo Railways.

The Fraser River Sand Banks—Comments on Sir Charles Tupper's Budget Speech—More About the Behring's Sea Matter—Some Correspondence.

[From our Own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, April 28.—The budget speech has been delivered and there are no tariff changes to be announced. This was not altogether unexpected, however, as THE COLONIST and other leading organs of the government intimated some weeks ago, that the administration had determined to give the tariff a rest. Sir Charles regretted to have to announce an anticipated deficit of a million dollars this year, but for next year the revenue is placed at $36,900,000. The estimates brought down reach $35,421,472, but to these are to be added the estimates for mail subsidies and steamship subventions, together with the supplementary estimates. Taking all these into consideration he hopes that at the end of 1888-9 the balance for this year and next will maintain an equilibrium. Sir Charles' observations on the financial position of the country are pregnant with importance. He spoke generally of the financial stringency of last year, and uttered a word of warning about going ahead too rapidly. Incidentally he referred in this respect to the real estate speculations in the large cities, especially in Toronto. It was cheering, however, to hear him express the belief that the trade of Canada is sound to the core. One important statement was made by Sir Charles to which repeated reference has been made in these columns, viz., that the government have determined for the present, with unimportant exceptions, to stop any further outlay on capital account, that is for railway subsidies, beyond that to which the country is now committed. In view of the important changes made in the tariff last year, it was but natural that the finance minister should devote some time to show the operation of the changes. He quoted evidence from the leading centres of the iron industry in Canada to show the boom which that branch of industry had received during the past nine months from the new tariff. In view of the predictions of the failure of the iron tariff this evidence is very important. He explained how necessary it was, if the Mill's Tariff Bill became law in the States, that our government should have power to promptly avail themselves of the opportunity to get reciprocity in timber, salt, etc., and for this reason he hoped the resolution of which notice had been given would be accepted by the house. Then for about half an hour he opened out on the Opposition for the shilly-shally policy of the past eighteen months. It had not taken long to repudiate Mr. Blake's famous Malvern speech of fifteen months ago, and after advocating Commercial Union for a while they had steered clear of it and stranded themselves high and dry on the shoals of unrestricted reciprocity. There was the true ring of the old war horse once more when he referred to the latest fad of the Opposition as the wildest chimera ever brought before parliament. In vigorous tones he denounced the mad folly of proposing a scheme which the opposition must know would be impracticable of working. The opposition fairly writhed under the castigation their inconsistencies received, while the ministerialists cheered to the echo. Sir Charles Tupper concluded his speech by a quarter to six, having spoken two hours and a half. Sir Richard Cartwright followed in one of his usual blue-ruin speeches, in which he rehashed his stale chestnuts of Canada being on the verge of ruin, &c. The remarkable feature of his address was that nobody listened to it, even the opposition manifesting their weariness at the lack of variety in his story.

THE SHUSWAP AND OKANAGON.

Mr. Mara, M.P., had a lengthy interview to-day with the minister of railways relative to securing government aid towards the construction of the Shuswap and Okanagon railway. It will be within the memory of COLONIST readers that last year strenuous efforts were made to secure a subsidy to the line, but for various reasons the government decided not to do anything last year, but promised favorable consideration to the project this session. Now, however, the government has about determined not to grant any railway subsidies at all this year. Mr. Mara made out a very strong case and the minister was compelled to admit this. He said that if a man promised to contribute, say $100, to any undertaking the obligation to pay over the sum was just as strong a year hence as upon the day the promise was given. This he held to be precisely the position in which the government was placed towards the Shuswap and Okanagon railway. It was not a demand similar to the ones made by the promoters of Ontario railways this week, but a request for the fulfillment of a promise made a year ago. Hon. Mr. Pope was evidently struck by the forcible way in which Mr. Mara put the case, and he has strong hopes that at any rate the S. & O. railway will receive the usual grant of $3,200 a mile this year.

CARIBOO RAILWAY.

Mr. H. P. Bell, C.E., is here booming matters in connection with the proposed Cariboo railway. He has had conversations with members of the government and members of parliament, and showed to them the advantages which would accrue to British Columbia and to Canada generally through the opening up of the Cariboo country. There is a growing feeling here that Canada must before long take steps to develop the magnificent resources which she possesses. Dr. Schultz's committee upon the Mackenzie river district has done splendid service in showing what a grand country we have away north of the usual haunts of man. It will probably be a few years before the iron-horse finds its way into that region, but there is no reason whatever, why in the immediate future the shrill whistle of the locomotive should not be heard in the valleys of the Thompson and Clearwater, and up into the Cariboo country. Mr. Bell's efforts should be productive of good at no distant date.

WESTMINSTER'S WANTS.

Mr. Alex. McEwan, of Westminster, left for home last night. In company with the worthy member for the district, "Doc" Chisholm, he had interviews with different members of the government in reference to securing an appropriation for the removal of the sand banks at the mouth of the Fraser River. As the accounts for the year have been closed and the supplementary estimates for the next year practically agreed upon, although not yet officially announced, it is questionable whether any additional sum for the work will be voted this session, but if the request is made in good time next year the wishes of the residents of the Royal City may be gratified.

THE BEHRING'S SEA MATTER.

The two members for Victoria, Messrs. Baker and Prior, were heard in the house on Wednesday afternoon, and the constituency that sends them here has every reason to be proud of her representatives. Mr. Prior, who spoke first, delivered a capital speech, brimful of information and although moderate in tone was justifiably assertative of the rights of British Columbia. He was warmly congratulated by Sir John Macdonald and his fellow members on his capital maiden speech. Mr. Baker's speech had the true ring about it. He does not mince his words and wants as speedy a settlement of the unpleasant dispute as it is possible to obtain. The correspondence came down the following day. It is very voluminous, making nearly two hundred pages of manuscript. The letters indicate that the United States government still decline even to suspend the operations of the cruisers in the sea.

In a note dated August 10th, 1887, Lord Salisbury, writing to Sir Sackville West, calls attention to the fact that additional seizures had been made in Behring's Sea, although on February 3rd Mr. Bayard had given instructions to release the vessels seized in August, 1886, and for the discontinuance of all pending proceedings. Lord Salisbury tells Sir Sackville to say that Her Majesty's government had deemed in view of the assurances conveyed by Bayard in the previous February that pending a conclusion of the discussion between the two governments on the general question involved no further similar seizures of British vessels would be made by order of the United States government.

The reports of Captain Sheppard, of the Rush in regard to the seizures of the Anna Beck, W. P. Sayward, Dolphin and Grace are given in full, and he justifies his action on the ground that these vessels had violated section 1956 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

Minister Foster reporting to the Privy Council says in reference to the affidavit of the mate of the Sayward it appears that all the seals on board the vessel were taken in the Pacific ocean and before the vessel entered Behring's sea, so that even the alleged claim on the part of the United States government to jurisdiction on the sea is not available in the case. He calls attention to the reply of the commander of the Rush, in which he states his orders were to take everything he came across in Behring's sea. The Privy Council urge the Imperial authorities to make a strong remonstrance to the United States government for so unwarrantable an act.

Mr. Bayard, writing to Sir Sackville West on August 13, says he has examined the expressions contained in his note of February 3rd and "can discover no ground whatever for the assumption by Her Majesty's government that it contained assurances that pending the conclusion of the discussion between the two governments on the general questions involved, as further seizures would be made."

Sir Henry Holland, writing to Lord Lansdowne on September 14th, says that the law officers of the Crown advised that a claim for compensation might probably be made against the United States government by the owners of the seized vessels. Correspondence dealing with the non-release of the vessels first seized in Behring's Sea after instructions had been issued to release them, and for which Mr. Bayard expressed his regret, is given, and then follows the important despatch which I telegraphed two days ago from Lord Salisbury to the British plenipotentiaries at Washington. A reference to it shows that Sweden and other nations are interesting themselves in a close time for seals. A communication with reference to a convention on this subject had been addressed to the maritime powers by the United States government but no conclusion had been reached. He added: "In answer to a question from Mr. Phelps, I have expressed myself as being favorably disposed to negotiate for an agreement as to a closer season in all the seal fisheries to whomsoever belonging, but I carefully separated the question from all controversies as to fishery rights."

To-day Mr. Baker showed me a clipping from a recent issue of THE COLONIST in which it is stated that negotiations are now in progress between England, Russia and the States in reference to the Behring's Sea affair, and that the discussion had turned upon the subject of a close time for seals. Mr. Baker said it appeared to him that the United States authorities were doing everything in their power to shut off the discussion of the Behring's Sea affair from the question of jurisdiction over the sea, but so far as the British Columbia members could do it they would take every opportunity to press that one point upon the Imperial authorities through the Dominion executive. He believed in a close season for seals, but before that question was discussed they wanted the larger one of jurisdiction settled.

ANNIE PIXLEY.

Appearance of a Distinguished Actress at The Victoria To morrow Evening.

At The Victoria to-morrow evening, a comedienne who has very few rivals on the American stage, will appear in one of the plays especially written for her, "The Deacon's Daughter." Annie Pixley will make her bow before a Victoria audience for the first time in many years. In the old Theatre Royal, Miss Pixley, then but a young girl, drew crowded houses, and the impressions she left behind, when she departed for other scenes, where she was destined to do honor to the profession she had chosen, were most pleasant, and the announcement of her re-appearance has recalled remembrances to the minds of older residents here which have made them anxious to see her once more. Her rise to the highest pinnacle in the profession was due to her own merits and it is not only in small towns that Miss Pixley is known, but in the largest cities in the world. The New York Herald says: "It was all that the management could do to find places for their patrons at the Union Square theatre last night, the theatre being crowded to its utmost capacity. Miss Annie Pixley never played with more vivacity nor sang sweeter nor danced more gracefully. Her play increased its popularity, and her washtub and champagne ditties and her ballads captivated her audience, who compelled her to repeat them several times. So complete was her triumph that the management promptly resolved to continue "The Deacon's Daughter" another week—the eighth of its run. Miss Pixley is as conscientious as ever in the personation of the dual role of Ruth Homewebb and Mabel Hawthorn, her contrastive presentation of the rough-diamond country maiden and the artistic actress being managed with consummate grace."

Seats can be secured at Waitt's.

OUR CABLE LETTER.

Legislation for Ireland Considered to be in the near Future—Balfour Criticised Severely.

Two Nationalists Arrested and Fined for Calling a Constable "A Buckshot Warrior."

Revolutionary Circulars Printed and Circulated Throughout Bulgaria—"Call to Arms."

(Copyrighted by the U. P. A.)

The dissentient liberals profess to believe that the government will, in due time, announce their intention to propose what they term home rule legislation for Ireland. Mr. Gladstone will be obliged, if the government should refuse to adopt any other policy than that of coercion, to propose a compromise such as they can accept and to which the Irish members will be forced to give way. The very success of the government promises to be their difficulty, when the legislation of this session is disposed of, and no doubt it is felt that the substantial part of the local government bill is sure of passing. Everything points to the Whitsuntide recess as a period of great interest and possibly of a new formation among the political parties. Gladstone, who has had much ebb and flow of political life, is obviously much less impressed than some of the younger of his followers, by the apparent success of the government, and it is notable that other politicians of great experience regard the facts of the session as argued in favor of the view that the government will be forced on a failure either by proposing an insufficient measure for Ireland,

OR BY MAKING NO PROPOSAL

at all, and so alienating many of those by whom they are now supported. It is a curious circumstance that the success of the local government bill has caused the belief to spread, even in conservative London, that it is the duty of the government and that it will not be difficult for them to make satisfactory proposals for Ireland. Lord Hartington's reference to the present bill as a measure of home rule has greatly caught the fancy of such as make up the majority in London, and it is difficult to understand how it will be possible for the government to persevere in a practical denial, which has been the last words of Salisbury and Smith. Mr. William O'Brien has been once more sentenced to imprisonment. The charge was that he addressed an unlawful meeting at Loughrea. Even if it be granted that as the law in Ireland at present stands the meeting was unlawful, it must be said that Mr. Balfour does not seem too fair minded to play his game fairly. He made a provocative boast and threw down a challenge. The Irish leaders took up the challenge and disproved his boast, and Balfour's retort is to clap him into jail. This is playing with loaded dice. The conditions of the game are not fair, and for a man who has the powers which have been entrusted to the Irish secretary to utter such provocation, strikes the majority of Englishmen

AS UNWORTHY.

If he wants to pooh-pooh his opponents he should stick to argument and not call in a resident magistrate when he has got the worst of it. The consolation is that it is not in the interest of the government to make martyrs, and that O'Brien will be as great a power in prison as out of it. The same entrance of any shadow of opposition is shown by the ridiculous prosecutions of the past week. Several men were fined for shouting "Down with evictions"; twelve were sentenced for cheering, shouting and groaning; four others were ordered to find security for good behavior for six months or go to jail for groaning at the police; and two were fined for calling a constable a "buck-shot warrior." If such persecutions are continued it will place Balfour in universal ridicule, and from a home rule point of view the more he gives of it the better.

The situation in the east grows more ominous every day. Though the peace is not officially broken between Russia and Austria, many agencies are at work which seem to make preparations for the coming catastrophe. Everywhere systematic, albeit as yet apparently desultory, attempts are going on to create disturbances in all the Balkan countries as well as in Roumania.

REVOLUTIONARY CIRCULARS

continue to be widely distributed throughout Bulgaria, Servia and Roumania, despite the efforts of the authorities of those states to suppress them. The style of writing employed by the Pan-Slavist agitators may be seen from the following circular which was, again this week, widely distributed throughout Bulgaria, notwithstanding the extraordinary efforts made to discover the authors and prevent their distribution to the army:

"A handful of traitors have been forced upon you as commander-in-chief, a heathen who deceived you and who led you to the massacre of your brethren and kinsmen. May the vengeance of Heaven fall upon you if you do not make reparation for that misdeed, but no! soldiers, it is not you who are guilty, for you have been imposed upon, but you would be guilty if you were to remain any longer indifferent. Ferdinand, that adventurer, who usurps the title of Prince of Bulgaria is not your ruler, he is a throne thief, who must be driven away. Do not believe the lies of those felons who enact the comedy of the present government, they are in the pay of Austria-Hungary; eject them from your soil. The usurper means to lead us to battle against our liberators, our Russian benefactors. Will you comply with this abominable order? Do not become the accomplices of the assasin of young Bulgaria. Are you not aware, soldiers, that the Coburger is the root of all evil? Tear the evil out by the root, expel the poisonous serpent and you will have saved the country; do not hesitate, the hour for action has struck, delay would be a crime; to arms."

The manifesto is one among many schemes for the convulsion of the young states of the east. The revolutionary movement in Roumania was originally set going by some Russian refugees with rather communistic ideas. Other agencies are now at work among the toilers of the soil, with the object of so paralyzing the Roumanian government as to make Russian intervention and violation of the neutrality of the country, in case of war, all the more easy.

THE END CONSIDERED NEAR.

Notwithstanding the official reports regarding the condition of Emperor Frederick to the effect that there has been a favorable turn in the symptoms of the affected larynx and that the fever has abated, it is learned from medical quarters, in which absolute confidence can be placed, that a perilous crisis is expected very soon, in fact it is believed in these quarters that the end is not very far off. From whatever side the people look, Emperor Frederick seems to be a man whose loss will be irreparable. The cause of spiritual freedom in Germany built its fondest hopes upon his powerful health, and to him looked those who believe that governments, not less than individuals, are honored and fortified by their adherence to the loftiest ideals of justice and generosity. The forecast made by his friends of a noble reign seemed justified by his first acts. His accession to the Imperial throne was felt by all Europe to be a message of peace and good will. The series of rescripts, which, in quick succession, he has given to the world during the last seven weeks, sketch with no doubtful hand the outlines of a noteworthy policy. Unity at home and peace abroad were to be the conditions under which the Emperor would try to enable his people to realize in the widest purport that discipline, which is the greatest teacher of Germany, held up to the modern world as its standard. He has been able to do no more than show what a monarch he might have been. The acute turn in the Emperor's illness comes at an unfortunate moment, it coincides not merely with the threatening phase of agitation for plebiscite in France, but with the advent of spring, which for political purposes means practicability of

THE MOVING OF ARMIES.

Russian forces on the confines of Austria and Roumania have not been reduced during the winter and nothing has occurred to alter the belief that some movement in the direction of Bulgaria was contemplated as soon as the weather should permit. A calm, strong hand is needed to take Germany peacefully through the troubles that are threatening in the east and west. Bismarck's hand is strong enough, no doubt, but his temper does not mend with age and there is good reason to suppose he has already given offence to some of the reigning German princes. The sick Emperor is the one man who can best keep all the German States in harmony. So long as it is possible to hope that he may be spared, it will also be possible to believe in the preservation of peace, but the removal of his presence from affairs and the substitution of his son, an apt pupil of the Chancellor and a representative of young Germany, which seems to outsiders all-militant, would be a change that cannot be contemplated without profound anxiety.

HANLAN DEFEATED.

The Race on the Parametta a Suspicious Affair—Hanlan Fouls his Opponent who Leads From the Start.

[Special to THE COLONIST.]

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 5.—A sculling match took place to-day between Peter Kemp, of Australia, and Edward Hanlan, of Canada. Kemp won by five lengths. The race was over the Parametta course. Kemp led from the start and before the mile post was reached Hanlan fouled him. Kemp stopped and went behind Hanlan for a distance. Off Gasceoigns bay Hanlan crossed Kemp's tracks and again fouled him, but the latter got his boat clear and proceeded at a swift stroke and came in five lengths ahead. Enormous crowds witnessed the race.

MASONIC CEREMONY.

Unveiling of the Monument to the Memory of the Late Samuel Hudson at Nanaimo.

Yesterday morning the officers of the Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M., B. C., accompanied by the members of the Buce Lodges, left by the train for Nanaimo for the purpose of unveiling the monument erected by the officers and members of Ashlar Lodge to the memory of the late Samuel Hudson, who lost his life in a noble attempt to rescue the imprisoned miners in the Vancouver Co.'s No. 1 shaft on May 3rd, 1887. Amongst the members of the Grand Lodge were: A. R. Milne, G. M.; J. Clute, D. G. M.; Henry Brown, P. G. M.; E. C. Neufelder, G. S.; H. F. Heisterman, G. T.; A. McKeown, G. D. C.; John Piercy, G. S. D.; W. W. Northcott, G. J. D.; M. Moss, G. P.; D. Wilson, G. S.; Dr. W. Quinlan, G. S. B.; W. Trickey, G. T.

The monument is erected in a conspicuous place in the Nanaimo cemetery, and the ceremony in connection with its unveiling took place yesterday afternoon. The proceedings were conducted by Grand Master A. R. Milne, assisted by the other visiting brethren and the officers and members of Ashlar lodge. The procession left the Nanaimo lodge room at 3 o'clock for the cemetery, the arrangements being in charge of Marcus Wolfe, worshipful master; past masters, M. Bate and R. Craig, and Brother J. Mahrer. The ceremonies were of a most impressive character and included an address from the Grand Master. The monument is described as being a beautiful piece of work, and was furnished by the Nanaimo marble works. It is suitably inscribed with the name and age of the deceased, and sets forth the heroic manner in which he met his death.

THE SEIZED SEALERS.

Speech of Mr. E. Crow Baker on the Motion for a Return of Correspondence Referring to the Seizures.

The Senior Member for Victoria Makes an Eloquent Appeal for Justice on Behalf of the Owners of the Vessels.

(Concluded.)

The total distance from the centre of Uninak Pass, passing ten miles west of Nunivak Island, to Cape Prince of Wales, at the east entrance of Behring's Strait, is 700 miles. The width of Uninak Pass, that is, from south-west point of Uninak Island to east point of Akun Island, the usual pass used is from 22½ to 25 miles. There is another pass called the Amukleta Pass, between Amukleta and Sigun Islands, which is 37 miles wide. The Akutam Pass, between Akutum and Oumalaska Island, is only eight miles wide, that is the narrowest entrance between that point and the Behring's Sea. The width of the entrance of Behring's Straits from Cape Prince of Wales to Cape Kregugin, is 70 miles; width of entrance of Behring's Straits from Cape Prince of Wales, in Alaska, to East Cape, on the eastern shore of Siberia, is 51 miles. A line dividing the straits of Behring's Sea, passes within 23 miles of Cape Prince of Wales, and 47 miles from Cape Kregugin, and 27 miles from Cape Chakotski. The Aleutian Islands cover a width, as hon. gentlemen will see, of 900 miles, that is from the north-east bay with a sweep up to the north-west, is a distance of 900 miles, all inside of which is the Behring's Sea, which will give hon. members some idea, if they have not already looked at the map themselves, of the immense volume of water there is in that sea, and the immense amount of sea territory, so to speak, which is claimed by the United States as an inland sea. The sealing grounds in the Behring's Sea are principally between 55 and 60 parallels of latitude, and from 165 to 175 meridians of longitude. The foregoing information is taken from the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey of Alaska and adjoining territory, 1884, by J. E. Hilgard, Superintendent; C. O. Boutelle, assistant in charge of office, as reissued with additions up to April, 1884—compiled from all accessible data by W. H. Dale, assistant, U.S.C.S., and including results of recent explorations by Capt. Beardslee and Lieut. Perry, U.S. Navy; Lieuts. Kay and Schwaka, U.S., Army; Capt. Hooper, U.S., Rev. Mar.; the officers of the Vega expedition, and of the Coast Survey, and other well-known surveyors and hydrographers, giving data to October, 1883. It is a little peculiar, Mr. Speaker, when we take into consideration the contention of the United States on the Atlantic shores, that they should make, or attempt to make, Behring's Sea a closed Sea, especially in view of the liberty enjoyed by United States whalers from New Bedford in Hudson Bay, which is wholly surrounded by our Canadian territory, and is entered by passing through an archipelago by channels less than 30 miles in width. I have shown that the channels entering into Behring's Sea are respectively 37 miles in width, 51 miles, the principal channel, and the one least used eight miles. Hon. gentlemen will remember the contention of the United States in regard to our bays on the Atlantic coast. Some of those bays are as follows:—Bay Chaleur, New Brunswick, 15 miles wide; Miramichi Bay, 14 miles; Egmont Bay, 17 miles; St. Mary's Bay, Nova Scotia, between Long Island and Bryan Island, nine miles; Banington Bay, eastern entrance 7¼ miles; western entrance, 6¾; Chedabucto Bay, Gut of Canso, two entrances; nine and ten miles respectively; St. Ann's Bay, 17 miles; Mince Bay, five or seven miles; Placentia Bay, Newfoundland, 22 miles; Hamilton Sound, 12 or 16 miles; Fortune Bay, three miles. Now, if the United States contend that they have the right or that the concessions should be granted to enter bays of such narrow width, equally, I think, and indeed with greater force, can we contend that we have the right to pass through the narrow entrance to the Behring's Sea, because in passing through any one of those entrances a vessel does not approach within fifteen miles of the shore. It has been said by some hon. gentlemen who have spoken on this subject that great indifference has been shown either by the federal government or by the Imperial government. I certainly do think, with all deference to hon. gentlemen who have spoken, that there has been apparent apathy or indifference amounting, to use the mildest term, to apparent neglect on the part of the Imperial government,—and I speak as an Englishman proud of the British flag, and proud of holding a seat in this house as a Canadian—because I must say that from 1st August, 1886, to 25th April, 1888, there has been ample time for some one upon whom the responsibility rested to have promised that there should not be a recurrence of the seizures. I am quite convinced that so far as the Canadian government are concerned every legislative endeavor has been made, all the persuasive eloquence that could be brought to bear has been used by telegram and letter to induce the Imperial government to take that step which we would like to see taken yet, namely, to send there an armed vessel, and, if necessary, take out our vessels, as was done in old times, with shot and shell. That is about the only way to take them. As far back as 12th May, 1886, I received a letter from a gentleman named T. Lubbe who was interested at that time in the sealing fleet sailing from Victoria. I consider that telegram was really the firing of the first shot in defence of our rights as Canadians to fish anywhere we please on the high seas, including Behring's Sea. I was requested at that time to get the matter before the government, which I most promptly did. That telegram, which was dated 12th May, 1886, simply said:

"Has the Minister of Justice not yet decided?
"T. LUBBE."

To that telegram I sent the following reply.

The Minister of Justice gives opinion in your favor and against American contentions. He has recommended attention of Imperial Government being called to the subject in order that views of Canadian Government be then sustained and enforced.'

Now, Mr. Speaker, no less than 23 months have passed since the Federal government sent either a telegram or a very emphatic and unmistakable letter to the Imperial government, urging the enforcement of the position taken by the government of Canada, namely, that our rights should be protected on the high seas, and up to the present nothing practical has been done. The reason why we in British Columbia are anxious at the present time that something should be done, not only in the matter of restitution for seizures that took place in 1886-87, but in reference to our rights in Behring's Sea, is because a certain amount of uncertainty and scepticism prevails as to

THE LATE JUDGE HENRY.

In the death of Judge Henry, of the Supreme Court of Canada, the bench of the Dominion has lost a brilliant ornament. A Haligonian by birth, he was called to the bar of his native province in 1840 and was shortly after a member of the legislative assembly of Nova Scotia. The question of responsible government at that period agitating British North America was strenuously opposed in Nova Scotia and the other provinces. Mr. Henry, however, upon his entering into the legislature supported it, and in 1842 a vote of want of confidence was carried against the government, which opposed the system, and in 1843 the ministers resigned. An appeal having been made to the country, Mr. Henry and his friends were defeated by a small majority. At the general election of 1847, however, the friends of responsible government were successful, and Mr. Henry was afterwards returned on the principle he first enunciated. At the meeting of parliament in 1848, the government was displaced by a resolution of want of confidence. In 1849 he accepted a seat in the ministry; in 1854 was appointed Solicitor-General, joining the administration, and in 1856, waiving his claim to a vacant seat on the bench of the Supreme Court, took the office of Provincial Secretary. This position he held for about eight months and in 1859 again became Solictor-General. A general election took place soon after, and in 1860 the government was defeated, their opponents holding office until after the general election of 1863, when Mr. Henry became for the third time solicitor-general. He took a prominent part in the question of the union of the North American provinces; in 1865 was appointed a member of a delegation to London respecting the construction of railways, and in 1866 represented the government at Washington in an unsuccessful negotiation for the continuance of the Reciprocity Treaty between England and the United States. In the same year he was again appointed a delegate on the "Union" question; and with his colleagues from Nova Scotia, and the delegates from Canada and New Brunswick, met in London, and adopted a scheme of union for submission to the Home government, which was adopted. His subsequent appointment to the bench during the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's administration and his able services in the administration of justice are known to everybody familiar with public affairs. He visited British Columbia professionally in September, 1886, and created a most favorable impression, so much so that his death at Ottawa evoked many feeling expressions of sorrow in this city.

A REVIEW OF THE BUDGET.

The gist of the budget speech has already been placed before our readers through the medium of the telegraph. The fact that it was understood there would be no changes in the tariff to announce took from it considerable of the interest that has attached to it in former sessions. Sir Charles Tupper, therefore, was free to confine himself chiefly to an exposition of the finances, a task which he seems to have performed in a clear and straighforward manner. The speech throughout may be styled a cautionary one, fully as much so perhaps as the superficial observer would deem justified by known facts of the situation. It is true there have been a combination of circumstances calculated to produce monetary stringency and a curtailment of business. The blotting out of a large amount of invested capital through the Ontario bank failures, the deficient harvest in that province, produced by the drought of last summer, and the keeping back of the lumber cut from the same cause, have all contributed to this end. The cessation of large outlays in railway construction, due to the completion of the Canadian Pacific and extensions, is also an element in the situation that would make itself felt. But with all this in view, the trade of the country is thought to be on a sound basis, and while caution may be advised there is no visible ground for fear. The Finance Minister's advise is salutary, and in acting upon it himself and applying the pruning knife of economy wherever possible to the estimates he has done what is best calculated to avert any ill consequences that might arise from the circumstances he detailed. It is easy to remedy a miscalculation on the safe side if occasion requires, and Sir Charles Tupper seems to have resolved that he would avoid the opposite extreme, and that the country will do the same if his advice is observed. Owing to the fiscal year ending in midsummer while the session of parliament is held at the beginning of the year, it falls that three distinct periods have to be treated of in considering the financial position of the country—the past, the present and the coming year. With regard to 1886-87 Sir Charles was able to make a very satisfactory report. Last year he had anticipated there would be a deficit of $300,000; he had a surplus of $97,323; and this though the actual expenditure had exceeded the estimate by $57,680. The figures were: Revenue, $35,754,993; expenditure, $35,657,680. But the causes that led to this result operated in a different way as regards the current year, 1887-88. Anticipating changes in the customs duties, large quantities of merchandise had been taken out of bond previous to July last. The first year profited at the expense of the latter. As a consequence, in the early part of this year customs receipts fell off, and though they later increased, a second decline was experienced, and on the 20th April they were $227,000 less than in 1886-87. In view of this the Finance Minister has reduced his estimate of the revenue by $400,000, making the total now looked for $36,000,000. The estimated expenditure on the other hand was $37,082,000. Economy, however, has been exercised, the expenses have been cut down to a considerable extent, and taking into account all the probabilities it is thought by the Finance Minister that an equilibrium between income and outgo will be maintained. Coming to the next year, 1888-89, Sir Charles apparently proceeded with much circumspection. Anticipating that his advice as to care in the matter of importations will be taken, he calculates on receiving from customs only $22,500,000; from excise he looks for $6,650,000, and from other sources $7,750,000—altogether $36,900,000. The estimates now before parliament amount to only $35,421,440; but in this is included nothing for mail subsidies or steamship subventions, and a considerable amount will necessarily be asked for in the supplementary estimates, including the charge subsequent upon the assumption of the St. Lawrence channel and Quebec harbor debts. The margin of $1,500,000 will no doubt be consumed in this way, but here, as in the current fiscal year, it is anticipated that the two sides of the account will be able to balance. In many departments, owing to the growth of the country, it is impossible to effect a material saving in expenditure. The charge for the public debt and sinking fund shows an increment, part of it owing to the fact that the amount at credit of Post Office Savings bank depositors has enlarged, which speaks well for the thrift and well-being of the wage-earning class. The vote for civil government steadily increases, and the pensioned class seems ever eager for more. The institution of new permanent military corps calls for an increase in the militia branch, and railways and canal maintenance and repair needs $78,000 additional. The lighthouse service demands an extra grant; $55,000 extra is needed for miscellaneous services, chiefly in the Northwest, and the working of the Intercolonial calls for $290,000 in excess of 1887-88. On the other hand a great reduction of $745,000 has been made in the vote for public works, $100,000 is taken from the immigration grant and the $97,000 voted last session to the Imperial institute will not be repeated. In view of these facts it is easy to believe the statement that the estimates have been framed with the desire to secure the greatest economy consistent with the sufficient maintenance of the public service. The government has also resolved to stop further outlay on capital account beyond that to which the country is already pledged. In the light of Sir Charles Tupper's speech the people should be convinced that the government is acting in a way to best secure the welfare of the country, maintain its credit at home and abroad, and keep the public service in an efficient condition. Canada's trade is, as he said, on a sound basis, and if there is occasion for caution, there are signs that it is being exercised. That is the proof of the foresight of the merchant class, and the guarantee that any stringency that exists will sooner pass away.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.

A VERY curious point of law of importance to the Roman Catholic Church has just been decided in the State of New York. A testator left in his will fifteen thousand dollars for the purpose of having prayers offered in a Roman Catholic church, to be by the executors selected, "for the repose of his soul and the souls of his family, and also the souls of others who may be in purgatory." The Court of Appeal held that the bequest was invalid and that the money must go to the heirs, on the ground that no Catholic Church was specified. The language of the will, the court decided, was broad enough to include all the Catholic Churches in the world, and there should have been a definite beneficiary or one capable of determination.

THE difficulty into which a writer will entangle himself when he attempts to deal with a question of which he knows absolutely nothing was very emphatically witnessed in the case of the editor of the Times in discussing the fishery question. There being no possiblity of a reply to our remarks of yesterday morning, our contemporary attempts to wriggle out of the corner into which he was driven, and does so, as usual, in a very ungracious manner. As we have him now just where we wanted him, there is little necessity of pursuing the matter further. We, therefore, leave him in his sorry plight, with the injunction that when he next attempts to enter into a discussion with this journal he had first better be sure of his grounds.

MR. RICHARD MANSFIELD, the American actor, whose impersonation of the dual character of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde has been so largely profitable to him, has acknowledged Mr. Stevenson's moral right to a share in the proceeds by several handsome cheques. Mr. Stevenson, though ill in bed in his retreat at Saranac Lake, has been so moved by this generosity, which certainly has few precedents, as to write to the papers making it public. The result of Mr. Stevenson's letters will, doubtless, be doubly beneficial. They will have a favorable educative effect upon American morals in the first place, and make a widely circulated and creditable advertisement for Mr. Mansfield in the second.

PRESS COMMENTS.

[Toronto Telegram.]

A member of the British Columbia colonial legislature, named Stenhouse, has resigned his seat because he has become a Mormon, and intends to join a Mormon colony. This is a curious case. Some years ago Stenhouse's parents resided in New York, where they had come from Utah, after repudiating Mormonism. His father, T. B. H. Stenhouse, had been a Mormon prophet, apostle, miracle worker, editor, missionary, and polygamist, high in the councils of Brigham Young, and revered as a saint of the first water, so to speak. His wife Fanny, also turned Mormon when she married him. After giving a quarter of a century of hard service to Mormonism, both of them while living in Utah began to doubt the truth of that religion, and after a time when they cast it off were assaulted by Brigham Young's avenging angels, from whom they barely escaped with their lives. He went to New York, where he found employment on the daily press until his death some years ago. In 1873 Appleton & Co. published a large octavo volume, of which he was the author, "The Rocky Mountain Saints," in which he gave the marvelous experiences of his career as a Mormon. About the same time his wife Fanny wrote a smaller volume, "Exposé of Polygamy in Utah," in which she told the harrowing story of her life there. It is of one of their sons about whom we now hear from the capital of British Columbia that he has returned to the barbarous religion in which he was born, but which was repudiated with loathing by both his parents before their death.

THE SEIZED SEALERS.

whether the United States will continue to make seizures of vessels or not. Had it not been for that feeling I am quite confident that to-day, instead of there being 17 or 18 vessels sailing from Victoria to Behring's Sea, there would have been at least three times that number, and even to-day we are not assured that protection will be given to our vessels. If we were assured of protection being given to the vessels, I think by this time there would have been a vessel flying the British flag somewhere in that vicinity, but until the Union Jack of old England is seen flying there so long will the American Eagle, represented by the Stars and Stripes, pounce down on our vessels and take them to Alaska. Only the other day an item appeared in one of the San Francisco newspapers, having an appearance of authenticity, to the effect that all vessels operating within certain limits set forth would be liable to the penalties prescribed by law against the killing of fur-bearing animals. It is equally possible that all vessels sailing from Victoria harbor or any other port in British Columbia, if they did not see this notice at the custom house in San Francisco, had it communicated to them by agents there; so that at the present moment vessels fitted out in Victoria and going into Behring's Sea have no guarantee that they will not be seized as were other Canadian vessels in 1886-87. In fact everything shows that such will be the case. I do not know that anything more can be done so far as the Canadian government are concerned. They have urged the matter up to a point which is satisfactory to the Canadian government and this position is supported by facts of which we are in possession, and no doubt there may be some very good reasons for the government not laying certain diplomatic correspondence before the House, or until a certain period has passed. But what we really want practically in British Columbia and in the vicinity of the Behring's Sea are two things: We want compensation for the vessels seized and the damage done, and we want a prevention of the recurrence of such a thing in future. I will not weary the House by reading the Alaska Commercial Company's charter from the United States government or the act for the prevention of the extermination of seals in the Behring's Sea, but I will simply give a reference to them so that hon. members can refer to them themselves. The act for the prevention of the extermination of seals in the Behring's Sea will be found on No. 120 of that little blue book issued last year when the correspondence was called for. While I am referring to the matter of extermination of seals in the Behring's Sea I will take this occasion to repudiate a statement which has got wind, to the effort that one of the reasons for preventing persons from killing seals in the Behring's Sea is that they kill indiscriminately; that they kill the female seals with pups, and seals under two years old. I have taken the trouble of critically going into this matter, and I have enquired from masters, officers, mates and the crews of these vessels as to what percentage of the seals killed would come under that category. I have the very best of assurance that out of possibly 21,000 or 22,000 sealskins brought down by each vessel from Behring's Sea to Victoria harbor, that there will not be 2 per cent of them belonging to seals such as should not be killed, which is a very small percentage indeed: Then, as regards the Commercial Company's lease, that will be found a little further on in those papers of last year, to which I have already alluded. Although I have lots of material here that I would like to refer to and place on record, the ground has been so well covered by those who have spoken that the patience of the house must have been fully tested upon this subject. The only excuse I can offer for taking up so much time of the house is that British Columbians do not usually occupy the time of the house, unless it is some important matter having particular reference to their own province, such as a question of this kind, in which possibly some of us have an individual interest, as I have already stated I have. There are many matters which come up before this house, such as the fishery treaty, and some hon. gentlemen may say: Why do not British Columbians speak on that subject? One very good reason may be given for this and that is that on some subjects "silence is golden." There are some questions which come up which immediately it would be in the interest of British Columbia to adopt but which in the near future I rather apprehend it would be in the interest of the province not to adopt, and considering the future and the present and the conflict between them it is just as well to say nothing on them. Upon this subject I think I can voice the sentiment of every man in British Columbia when I say that the rights of Canadian vessels on the Pacific can fairly claim as much protection, and that their case should equally be urged on the Imperial government, as the rights of our vessels upon the Atlantic Ocean have been urged. It is, I think, a matter of regret that this question was not referred to the United States plenipotentiaries so that the necessity of calling for the papers in this house would have been avoided.

Barbaric Hayti Negroes.

Hayti has for nearly a century been a black independent state. The negro race have had it to themselves and have not been interfered with. They were equipped, when they started on their career of freedom, with the Catholic religion, a civilized language, European laws and manners, and the knowledge of various arts and occupations which they had learned while they were slaves. They speak French still; they are nominally Catholic still, and the tags and rags of the gold lace of French civilization continue to cling about their institutions. But in the heart of them has revived the old idolatry of the Gold Coast, and in the villages of the interior, where they are out of sight and can follow their instincts, they sacrifice children in the serpent's honor after the manner of their forefathers. Perhaps nothing better could be expected from a liberty which was inaugurated by assassination and plunder. Political changes which prove successful do not begin in that way. —J. A. Froude.

Miss Anderson at Home.

Miss Anderson's house, Mount Wal tham, is on the slope of the side street called Netherhall Gardens, which runs from a steep, broad thoroughfare. It is a dard red brick modern house, from whose windows can be seen on a clear day nearly all of London lying below. It is in the midst of ample grounds and is above the fog line. The house is handsome, large and well fitted. The hallway is very broad, square and in dark oak, with a great fireplace upon one side. All of the rooms on this floor open into the hall. In the center of this hall there stood on the day that I called an enormous Christmas tree. Above the Christmas tree from the bannisters leading to the second floor hung a brilliantly colored silk United States flag. This tree was for the benefit of Miss Anderson's young brother. She has all of her immediate family with her, and lives as few actresses can live—at home, with her own people about her.—T C. Crawford in New York World.

The man who was found eating oysters out of the fisherman's barrel gave as his excuse that he believed in admitting raw material free.—Independent.

GREAT WONDER.

Electro-Magnetic Power Skillfully Applied in the Cure of Disease—The Wonderful Cures by Drs. Darrin. Seattle, W. T.

Our people have been favored for some time by the presence among them of physicians possessed of remarkable power, making electro-magnetism the source of their cures. When Drs. Darrin first entered practice here, our own people were disposed to be very skeptical and naturally so perhaps, for many of the cures reported from time to time seemed to be almost miraculous. As time passed on, however, indubitable and positive evidence of the wonders they accomplished by their electro-magnetic treatment were given. Their fame rapidly spread, not only in the city but through the country, and the afflicted flocked from all quarters in search of relief, and but few, indeed, have been turned away disappointed.

The following few testimonials are selected from the thousands of others that they have on file at their office. $10,000 will be given for those that are not genuine:

DEAFNESS RESTORED.

To the Public: I have been very deaf in one ear, more or less, for a long time, so that I could not hear a tick of a watch, also accompanied by roaring and ringing sounds. I came to Drs. Darrin and consulted them in regard to it, and they said that I was curable. I have taken a few of their electro-magnetic treatments, and I now can hear as well as I ever could in my life. I give this reference freely, and can be referred to at Lowell, Snohomish County, W. T. EVANS HARMON.

EYES CORRECTED.

I have been cross-eyed all my life. I am now 21. I never attempted to have them straightened for fear of having them injured. Having heard of the wonderful cures and operations by the Drs. Darrin I went and put myself under their treatment. They did two operations, one on each eye, with perfect results. I can be seen and referred to—Seattle, near Lake Union. J. H. HALE.

A CASE OF GENERAL DEBILITY AND CATARRH.

Twenty years ago, while working in a sawmill and doing heavy lifting, I was taken with a stitch of pain in my back, which resulted in a general debility. I have also for a number of years been troubled with catarrh, and tried many things for relief, but to no avail until I consulted the Drs. Darrin, and they have, after a few treatments, nearly restored me to health. I can gladly be referred to at Houghton, W. T.
WM. GILBERT.

ANOTHER SOUL MADE HAPPY.

Mr. Isaac Wingard, of Centralia, W. T., writes Drs. Darrin as follows: "With pleasure I write you in regard to the treatment you gave me for asthma of eighteen years' standing. Your treatment has worked like a charm. I have had no symtoms of asthma since I returned home. The cure seems to be permanent, and it gives me great joy to tell you this. Send me some of your circulars, as many of my neighbors wish to try your skill in their cases."

OFFICE HOURS AND PLACE OF BUSINESS.

The Drs. Darrin are located at the International Hotel, Cherry street, Seattle, W.T. Consultation free. They will under no circumstances take a case that they are positive that they cannot cure or benefit. Charges are reasonable and the poor treated free from 9 to 10 a.m. Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Office hours, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays 10 to 12.

They cure permanently all diseases of the urinary organs, and make a speciality of deafness and catarrh, and also treat successfully all diseases of the nose and throat, eye and ear, etc., as well as all acute and chronic diseases of whatever nature, if curable. No cases taken if not.

Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors' office.

Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

(The Drs. Darrin also have a branch office at 235 Fifth street, Portland, Or., where any in that vicinity can consult them).

A Severe Trial.

Those who endure the torturing pains of Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago and similar painful complaints are severely tried, but there is a speedy relief in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, as thousands who have used it joyfully testify. It banishes pain and lameness quickly. tu-th-sat-dw

The Agents "Armbrecht's Coca Wine."
DEAR SIRS,—I have carefully analyzed the sample of "Armbrecht's Coca Wine" sent to me on the 5th ultimo. I find that the wine contains 0.0214 per cent. of Cocaine by weight; that is, each wineglassful of the wine contains 0.035 grammes, or a little more than half a grain of the Alkaloid. Armbrecht's Coca Wine may be briefly described as a very agreeable preparation, containing in each wineglassful a good tonic dose of the active principle of Erythroxylon Coca. I remain, Sirs,

THE QUEEN OF THE PACIFIC.

Ada Faye Says the Spiritualistic Prediction was Correct—A Singular Case.

A dispatch from San Francisco says: As regards the theory that the founder-ing of the Queen of the Pacific was foretold by spiritualists, and that some agent of the spiritualists was responsible for the sinking of the ship, Mrs. Ada Faye, a noted medium, was seen and questioned in relation to the alleged prediction. She confirmed the report, with an emphatic "Yes, it is true. The prediction," she continued, with mediumistic fervor, "was made by John Slater, at the Odd Fellows' hall, one Sunday night, seven weeks ago. I was not present at the time, but there are 600 people who can testify that John Slater really predicted the disaster. He singled out a young man, and in his own short, jerky fashion, told him that he was going to sea. The man did not deny it, whereupon Slater told him not to do so. He then gave the name of the Queen of the Pacific, and said that she would sink within a few weeks, or rather something would happen to the vessel. The prediction excited considerable comment at the time, and it was only last Wednesday night when some friends of mine insinuated that Slater had for once made a poor prophecy, I told them to wait and give the spirits time. When I read the news of the disaster I realized what a magnificent test had been given." A number of mediums seen later told substantially the same story, and all ignored the supposition that villainy had been practiced. In their opinion, the occurrence was incontrovertible proof of the genuineness of Slater's mediumship and of the truth of a sublime belief.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

Closing Concert.

There will be given to-morrow evening in the Pandora street Presbyterian church, a concert, the last of the season.

For San Francisco.

By the Umatilla, the following passengers left for San Francisco yesterday afternoon: Rev. R. Lennie, H. A. Cartwright, T. Claustoa, John Fruchtricht, R. Broderick, jr., Miss Nellie Broderick, C. A. Jackson and seven in the steerage.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The well-known wholesale and retail grocery firm of Neufelder & Ross has dissolved partnership, the senior partner, Mr. E. C. Neufelder, retiring from the business, which will in future be carried on by Mr. Dixi H. Ross under the firm name of D. H. Ross & Co.

Revivalists.

Rev. J. Mountain and wife, the noted revivalists of London, England, are on the steamer Mexico for this city. They intend holding services in various parts of this province. They have visited Africa and Australia, where their endeavours to forward the interests of Christianity have been very much appreciated.

Big Strike.

A rich vein of gold and silver ore has been discovered on the south side of Salt Spring Island. The discoverers are the Brethour brothers and Mr. Newbigging, of Saanich. Mr. A. Thom, mining expert from Colorado, went up last week to examine it and reports very favorably, bringing several samples of very fine gold and silver quartz that assays quite to the satisfaction of the owners.

The Westminster Southern.

Messrs. John Hendry, E. S. Scoullar, B. Douglas and G. E. Corbould, who visited Seattle for the purpose of consulting with the promoters of the Seattle and Lake Shore road, in reference to making a connection with the Westminster Southern, returned on last evening's steamer. It is not known what arrangements were made, but it is thought that a mutual understanding in regard to the operations of the Southern will shortly be arrived at.

Blue Ribbon Club.

Last evening the Blue Ribbon Club held their usual weekly meeting, Mr. Chas. Maynard in the chair. The following was the programme: Song, by the choir; prayer, by Mr. Siddal; song, by the choir; recitation, by Miss Foster; duet, Miss Durham and G. Maynard, encored; address, by Mr. Siddal; instrumental solo, Miss Cusack, encored; song, Mr. W. H. Shaw, encored; address, by Mr. H. Rudge; song, by the choir; address, by Mr. Sutton; God Save the Queen. It is understood that the Victoria Bell Ringers will give some favorite airs shortly. After the meeting the following officers were elected: Mr. W. H. Sutton, 1st vice-president, Mr. H. Rudge, 2nd vice-president.

Novel Agricultural Experiment.

A gentleman has handed in the following agricultural "wrinkle" for publication, and as the idea is a novel one, it is, at least, worthy of experiment where gardening plots are limited in size. When your space is small hoe some holes and into each hole put peas, potatoes, and sweet corn; cover up when they begin to grow. The corn will shoot up into a good stalk for the peas to cling to, and the peas will shade the potatoes to a great extent, which is necessary in a country like ours where we have occasional dry summers. Now, the beauty of this is that when the peas and corn ripen, and are gathered, the stalk being left you can easily pull up the potatoes by reason of it having larger roots which pull up the potatoes all at once without the trouble of digging.

The Sealers.

Following is a list of the sealers that reported at Neah Bay, and the amount of their catches: Annie, 156; Lilly L, 420; Algar, 48; Alexander, 66; Walter L. Rich, 458; Mary Ellen, 705; San Diego, 210; Penelope, 405; Javonia, 69; Mary Taylor, 225; Adelia, 208; Theresa, 147; Molly Adams, 565. The last named vessel has twelve boats, and she intends going into the Behring's Sea immediately. The tug Alexander, which arrived from the Cape, reports eight sealers in at Neah Bay, the unfavourable weather and adverse winds delaying their departure.

Capt. Warren returned from Seattle yesterday morning with his schooner, the W. P. Sayward. It will be remembered that she was the only one released by the U.S. Marshall at Sitka.

Grand Excursion.

Among the societies which have been foremost in preparing amusements for the 24th of May, are the united temperance societies, which have selected Langford plains as their picnic grounds. Possessing many attractions such as shady groves and a large lake, the plains have always been more or less popular, but many with large families were prevented from enjoying a day's outing on account of the long stage ride. Not so to-day; the plains are brought almost to our doors, so to speak, by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, and the time it takes to go and come is but a few minutes, where, in former years, it took hours. With all these advantages the temperance societies will not fail to make their excursion a success. Round trip tickets, adults, $1; children, 50c. The programme, which embraces all kinds of sports, will appear in a few days.

Chinese Pheasants.

A couple of these magnificent game birds can be seen at Mr. W. Whittaker's, Johnson Street, having been mounted for a gentleman in this city. The birds were brought from one of the islands of Washington Territory, where they have become so plentiful as to be almost a nuisance. The Chinese pheasant is a game bird of brilliant red and orange plumage about the size of the English male pheasant, and with even a longer tail. It is very prolific, and increases rapidly. In Oregon and Washington Territory, although the birds have only been introduced within the past few years, they have multiplied to an enormous extent. Being a fine game bird, would it not be worth while to introduce them into this province? In a few years they would prove splendid sport, and the cost of introducing the breed would be trifling.

The Colonist Reception.

THE COLONIST building was thrown open to the public last evening, and hundreds of citizens, including a large proportion of the fair sex, availed themselves of the opportunity of witnessing the "art preservative" in all its branches. The label printing came in for a large share of attention, the large steam presses being objects of special interest and curiosity to the visitors, many of whom saw a printing press in operation for the first time. The whole process of preparing the salmon labels was shown, from the time the blank sheets of paper were placed upon the press until they were turned out ready for pasting on the cans. The type-setting department was also inspected, as was also the lithographic, while a few of the most inquisitive even took a peep into the editorial sanctum so that they could say they had witnessed everything that was to be seen in the establishment. It is the intention to hold another reception at any early date, of which notice will be given.

Base Ball Match.

The Jubilee and Beaver base ball clubs played a match game yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill, the Jubilees winning by one point, the score standing at the conclusion of the game eighteen to nineteen.

Promenade Concert.

To-morrow evening the band of "C" Battery, under the leadership of Prof. Agius, will give a promenade concert and social dance in Philharmonic Hall, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of new music and other necessaries.

The Sealing Industry.

The sloop Octopus has arrived at Nanaimo from Alberni, and reports speaking the sealing schooners Addie, Capt. Hawson, and Mountain Chief, Capt. Victor Jacobs, at Dodge's Cove, Barclay Sound. They had about 100 skins each, and want to leave for Behring's Sea, but cannot get hunters, as the Indians are afraid of being seized. The Indian schooner Letitia went out and got 80 skins, and took them to Cape Flattery, where they say they sold them for $7.

Queen's Birthday Celebration.

The meeting announced to be held at the city hall last evening to take steps towards the celebration of the Queen's birthday, was but slimly attended, only about twenty citizens being present. After waiting half an hour, and this number not increasing, it was deemed advisable to adjourn until next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, upon which occasion, Mayor Grant said, he hoped to see a much larger attendance of citizens present. It was also mentioned that as the present year is the jubilee year of Her Majesty's coronation; the celebration should be of a more than ordinary demonstrative character; and all loyal Victorians should join hand-in-hand in making the proposed celebration second to none of former years, and certainly second to none held elsewhere in the province.

Rifle Match.

The rifle match at Clover Point range yesterday afternoon between a team from "C" Battery and one from No 3 Battery, B. C. G. A., was won by the former by 91 points. This result was somewhat surprising, as it was generally supposed that whichever team won would do so by a scratch. To master gunner Cornish, of "C" Battery, belongs the credit of making the top score—82 points. The following is the result of the match:

Steamer Mexico will be due from San Francisco to-morrow morning.

Br. ship Trafalgar sailed from San Francisco for Burrard Inlet on the 9th instant.

Steamer Umatilla sailed for San Francisco from the outer wharf yesterday at one o'clock p.m.

The U. S. revenue cutter Thetis will leave Esquimalt harbor to-morrow for the north. At Departure Bay she will take on 400 tons of coal, leaving that port on Wednesday next in charge of Mr. E. Francis, pilot.

Steamer Eliza Anderson ran into the Quincy dock at Port Townsend on Thursday morning under full headway, cutting about five feet and splitting almost completely in two a building on the wharf. The damage estimated is about $1,000 to the wharf, and to the steamer $100 or more. This is pretty good work for the old Anderson.

A San Francisco despatch says: The steamer Queen of the Pacific now lies alongside the dock at Port Harford nearly free from water. From a telegram received by the agents Thursday morning very little damage will be sustained to the hull or machinery of the Queen and in all probabilities she will arrive in this port to-morrow, when repairs on her will be immediately commenced.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Jury's Verdict Given In Accordance With the Facts.

Mr. Thos. Storey's undertaking rooms were the scene of another inquest yesterday morning, that on the body of the late Hans Anderson, who was drowned on Friday morning.

The following jury was impannelled:—Jos. Gosnell, foreman; J. Woods, H. A. Lilly, A. B. Cooke, Geo. Rudge, and G. H. Maynard.

Alex. McLean, sworn, said: I am captain of the Mary Ellen; deceased was one of the crew; he joined the ship on the 17th February and deserted the same day after getting an advance of $10; on the 26th of April had deceased arrested for desertion; on the 2nd inst. he was returned on board; at 12 o'clock he deserted again; at 3:30 p.m. on the same day he was brought aboard again; saw him on the vessel at 7:30 on the same evening; he wanted to go ashore but would not allow him because witness thought he was going to desert the vessel. Did not see him until after his death.

To a Juror—The schooner was out in the stream on the day when he was drowned; on the 2nd May when he deserted the schooner was alongside the C. P. N. wharf. Deceased was a very quiet man.

William Morse stated—I am a seaman belonging to the schooner Mary Ellen; saw deceased on the vessel on that day; he deserted and was brought aboard again; went to bed that night early; some time during the night deceased shook witness and said, "Look after my sack if I should not come back"; Anderson was not very sober at 4 o'clock in the afternoon; deceased had a bottle of whisky and was drinking with witness; there was no quarreling amongst the crew.

Edward Eustace, seaman, stated—I am not employed on the schooner Mary Ellen; went over the bay yesterday morning inquring for Anderson; they did not know on the schooner where Anderson was; met Pilot Thompson on the wharf and was asked whether anyone was missing from the schooner; witness said "Yes;" Thompson pointed to a body in the water; witness walked away because I was excited; afterwards went to see whether there was any life in him, and with two other men we drew him on the beach; witness knew deceased deserted because he did not like the ship; he was drinking on the 1st of May; he was here for ten years and was captain of the schooner Bonanza for some time; have no reason to believe that there was foul play.

After some deliberation the jury brought in a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by drowning while attempting to desert from the sealing schooner Mary Ellen.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The internal revenue collected in Nanaimo district for the four months ending, April 30th, 1888, amounted to $751.48.

The oratoria of "Esther" is to be produced at Nanaimo next week by local talent under the direction of Prof. Pferdner.

The San Francisco Examiner terms "Professor" Chance, who recently gave a so-called athletic exhibition in Victoria, "a beat who should be behind a high fence in San Quentin."

Thursday, the first anniversary of the Nanaimo explosion was observed by the miners and others connected with the Vancouver Coal company, as a general holiday.

Many complaints are made by interested parties of the unnecessarily personal manner in which the Times is in the habit of writing its local news items. Another instance of this kind occurred last evening.

The seven o'clock train last night brought over 150 passengers from Nanaimo and intermediate points, including a party of children of St. Ann's convent, who went north on an excursion, in the morning.

TACOMA AGAIN EXCITED.

Heavy Lumbering Operations to be Undertaken Near That City.

TACOMA, May 2.—The following telegram was received here to-day from the general land agent of the Northern Pacific railroad:

NEW YORK, May 2.

A contract was executed to-day between the Northern Pacific company and a syndicate of Minnesota and Wisconsin lumbermen, involving the sale of the timber on 80,000 acres of land near Tacoma, the construction of forty miles of railway, and the erection of two large sawmills at Tacoma. The syndicate agrees to furnish the Northern Pacific railroad with 75,000,000 feet of lumber per annum, to transport to St. Paul.

A Philadelphia despatch claiming to be authentic, says Blaine has been induced not to decline if he receives the Republican nomination for president, and he places himself in the hands of his friends.

A Madrid dispatch says an epidemic prevails in that city. It is feared the disease is of a choleraic nature and its spread is attributed to the extreme heat and the drinking of impure milk.

The lumber yards of the Chippewa lumber company at Chippewa Lake, were burned on Thursday. Loss, $130,000.
